The Teaching Chef

Hiran Roy

Hiran Roy, in 2016, received his PhD. in Management at the University of Canterbury, School of Business and Economics, Christchurch, New Zealand Concentration: Hospitality and Tourism Management. Hiran is an Executive Chef (Certified Chef de Cuisine) and has worked in the hospitality industry for more than 25 years in different prestigious establishments as a supervisory and leadership role in hospitality trade in Canada, U.S.A. Cayman islands, Hong Kong and India.

Hiran is the Recipient of several awards: New Zealand Commonwealth Scholarship and Fellowship Plan for 2013-2016; Award for Outstanding Service on behalf of hospitality education from American Hotel & Lodging Educational Institute of the year 2010; People's choice award of Healthy Chef Competition and the Canadian Food Network TV shows "I Do, Let's Eat", 2007.

We are pleased that Hiran is one of our Faculty members currently teaching in the Bachelor of Hospitality Management (BHM) program. This is our newest degree offering, a four-year direct entry program that is uniquely designed to meet the needs of the Hospitality and Tourism Industry. For further information about our program, please go to our website at:

http://www.acsenda.com/academic-programs/degree- programs/

ACSENDA
SCHOOL OF MANAGEMENT
VANCOUVER